

ABSTRACT

The object of the present invention is to achieve simple recruitment of fibroblasts into wounded tissues and 5 engraftment of the fibroblasts in the wounded tissues, thereby healing the wounds without requiring fibroblast transplantation. Upon G-CSF administration, fibroblasts migrate into myocardial infarct lesions and prevent a reduction in cardiac function, thus alleviating cardiac 10 remodeling.